Gather up your household hazmat trash for disposal next Saturday

You'll need a voucher from your Town Office

By ALISON ALOISIO

On Saturday, Sept. 24, Bethel area towns will share a common disposal point for household hazardous waste items at the SAD44 bus garage.

It's a new arrangement for the annual September disposal, which was formerly organized by individual towns. Known as the Western Maine "Environmental Depot," the effort is a project of the Androscoggin Valley Council of Governments.

The household hazardous waste disposal will take place from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the bus garage, located at the corner of Main and Cross streets, near the railroad tracks.

Anyone wishing to dispose of items must first obtain a voucher from their own Town Office. There is no charge.

The voucher will allow the resident to dispose of the following amounts of material:

Up to 5 gallons of liquid waste; or

Up to 20 pounds of dry waste; or

A combination of liquid and dry waste (for example, 2 gallons of liquid and 10 pounds of dry).

Up to 5 fluorescent bulbs of any size and shape, in addition to the above liquid or dry wastes.

Residents from towns not issuing vouchers or who have more waste than can be paid for with the vouchers must pay the contractor in cash.

G'wood beefing up its growth ordinances

By MICHAEL DANIELS

At a public hearing next Tuesday, Greenwood residents will discuss a proposal from the town Planning Board for several significant revisions to the town's Subdivision Ordinance.

They will also take up a proposal to establish the town's first Site Plan Ordinance, for regulating commercial developments.

The subdivision revisions represent the first major overhaul of that ordinance since it was adopted in 1988.

The proposed amendments reflect recommendations contained in the town's Comprehensive Plan and some from the Planning Board.

Most of the proposed revisions are in the form of additional language, often addressing matters not discussed in the present ordinance.

The proposal also adds several new steps to the process of applying for a subdivision.

Increased development pressure on the town prompted the Planning Board to seek the changes, according to Town Manager Kim Sparks.

The Planning Board has been working on the proposals since the beginning of the year, with assistance from the Androscoggin Valley Council of Governments.

forum for residents to discuss the proposed changes. The actual vote to accept or reject them is expected to come at a special Town Meeting, scheduled for Oct. 4 at 5 p.m.

Major changes

If the revised ordinance is approved by voters, would-be developers would see the effect early in the application process.

For example, they would be required to submit two sketch plans, one for a traditional

Trails group gets go-ahead to apply for grants

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The effort to establish an extended system of recreational trails in the Bethel area took another step forward Monday, when the Bethel Board of Selectmen formally endorsed having the Bethel Area Trails Committee apply for the grants necessary to move the effort ahead.

The endorsement does not in itself commit the town to any financial obligation — a Town Meeting would be required for that.

But it does commit the town to make a good faith effort to support the project — for example, by attempting to raise any local match necessary for the grants, and by being willing (again, with Town Meeting approval) to front some funding for the project, prior to the money being reimbursed by the state.

The trails group (a committee of the Mahoosuc Land Trust) was formed in March 2004, with the goal of expanding recreational trails here.

One of the group's first efforts was a survey, in Sept. 2004, of public opinion regarding a local trail system.

That survey identified four options of particular interest: extension of the current Pathway, a trail from Bethel village to the new Angevine Park swimming pond, safe trails to all SAD44 schools, and a trail connecting Bethel to Sunday River Ski Resort.

First up: Links from Pathway to North Road and Telstar

Over the past year, the trails group has been laying the groundwork for such expansions.

Its members have met with the contractors of the new recreational bridge, and with the town and landowners to determine how the bridge will connect with other local recreational and snowmobile trails.

They have also applied for grants to fund the extensive mapping, Geographical Information System (GIS), technical and planning work necessary for trails expansion.

The trails group's efforts are currently focused on extending the existing Bethel Pathway at both ends: north, toward the North Road, and east, toward Telstar.

Extended trails could cost as much as a quarter of a million dollars a mile to construct, Kirk Siegel told the selectmen Monday.

"But there's [grant] money out there," he said.

The group, armed with the endorsement of the selectmen,

Telstar, CPS kids team up at Camp Susan Curtis

By ALISON ALOISIO

"Where do you want the ball to go? I can tell you're thinking, but are you thinking to each other?" asked the counselor.

"A little bit this way," called the 11-year-olds to each other. "Not too much weight on that side!"

At Camp Susan Curtis in Stoneham last week, 50 Crescent Park School fifth-graders spent two days learning to work as a team — skills the CPS teachers hope will carry over into the classroom this year. The youngsters were led by nine Telstar High School students and several camp counselors.

The "ball" exercise called for a team of three, balancing on a tippy wooden maze the size of a swimming float, to shift their collective weight around to roll a golf ball from one corner of the maze into a hole on the other.

Other activities included hiking, nature walks and games to encourage the kids to get to know each other better.

"It's great to watch them solidify as a group, since they'll be together all year long," said Linda Kuzyk, a CPS fifth-grade teacher.

The new program at CSC is another improvement to SAD44's annual start-of-school-year gathering of fifth-graders, Kuzyk said.

The effort to bring the classes together to promote teamwork began in the 1990s at Papoose Pond Campground, in recent years it has been held at the Maine Conservation School.

This year, CSC coordinated with Steve Keane's Outdoor Leadership class at Telstar High School to supplement the camp staff in leading activities.

The two-day camp isn't free, but with one-third of the funding provided by the camp's grant sources and another third in staff costs saved by utilizing high school students, the cost to the district came to $13 a day per fifth-grader, according to Pat Carson, CSC director.

Carson said the Telstar kids are a key part of the effort. "It's the high schoolers that the elementary kids remember and get to know so well," he said.

Telstar junior Kelsie Hanscom was one of the group leaders. She described her experience working with the younger students:

"When they first arrived it was hard to focus all the energy and excitement,"

PITCHING IN—Jenny Wakefield, a fourth-grader at Woodstock Elementary School, tossed woodchips into the school's new "Superdome" climbing gym, one piece of $11,000 worth of new playground equipment installed Saturday. Approximately 30 volunteers turned out for the Saturday work party that put up the new equipment. Money for the new gear was raised by the local PTA and through community donations, and from SAD44. Community members also donated excavation work (Savage Construction), cement, wood chips, and food.

Gould Academy's largest class in 20 years begins its journey

By JOHN NESBITT

Monday marked the beginning of classes at Gould Academy, with a student body of 236, representing 19 states and 10 countries. New students arrived last Wednesday for several days of orientation, and returning students arrived on Saturday.

Record Enrollment

Gould begins its 170th year fully enrolled, with the largest student body in at least 20 years. The increase in enrollment is especially notable given the national trend of decreasing boarding school enrollment.

Administrators at Gould attribute this year's enrollment to a very high percentage of returning students, a large freshman class, and an increased number of day students.

Helping hurricane victims

On Wednesday Gould welcomed a student from New Orleans displaced by Hurricane Katrina.

He will attend Gould until he is able to return to his home school. Since the disaster took place, Gould faculty and staff have worked to create openings at the academy in order to accept up to three students displaced by Katrina.

LOCAL EMERGENCY PLANS

To the Editor:

The recent catastrophe and aftermath of hurricane Katrina has spurred me to revisit my family's own emergency preparedness as well as learn about the emergency response plans of my community.

There is no doubt the Katrina event is of such a magnitude that any formal emergency response plans in the area have been stressed and tested mightily, and weaknesses made glaringly obvious. It is also clear that previously defined emergency response plans are being followed and they have smoothed the way to rescue and recovery for tens of thousands of people.

An observation on the Katrina situation is the apparent lack of communication to or understanding by citizens in some locales about the emergency response plans for their areas. I believe broader knowledge and understanding of the emergency response plans and the associated roles and responsibilities of leaders involved prior to this catastrophe might have lessened some of the suffering and number of unmet expectations.

Turning attention back to my home and thinking how fortunate we are to live in an area that does not have to contend with such devastating hurricanes on a regular basis, I consider the risks we do face even as we enjoy the beautiful surroundings of our community. Some familiar naturally occurring ones include ice storms, flooding and extreme low temperatures. There are a host of non weather-related risks associated with having major transportation routes through our community as well. And the events of 9/11 demonstrated there are still other types of risks for which we must plan.

While we are each responsible for emergency plans for ourselves and our families first, there can be times when emergency events take us beyond our own abilities and resources. What happens then?

It is in the spirit of enhanced knowledge and understanding that I intend to ask our community officials to share with us our local emergency response plans and procedures, including how they relate to county, state and federal plans and other supporting organizations. We also have many resources in our area (skilled people, bed base, etc.) that could be pressed into service should a neighboring community have need. We should prepare for that possibility, too.

While much documentation about emergency plans exists in the public information domain, I think a grassroots level, direct communication would ensure broader public understanding and realistic expectations for emergency response. Any action we can take to lessen or prevent suffering and increase knowledge is worthwhile, particularly if provided before it is needed and reinforced periodically. I would be very happy to assist and facilitate such a communication effort and I think many others would too.

In the meantime, a great source for citizens to help them develop their own emergency preparedness plan is the American Red Cross. The Red Cross created a handy document called "Your Family Disaster Planning" and it can be found on the Internet at this location www.redcross.org/static/file_cont36_lang0_23.pdf. Neighbors, churches and other organizations should ensure those less fortunate or able among us are also considered in planning, which I know comes naturally for so many in this community.

We owe it to our families and ourselves to prepare for emergencies to the best of our abilities. We also need to take the initiative to participate in the development of and become informed about emergency plans by organizations larger than ourselves, including our government. I'm contacting town officials for more information.

KIDS NEED HEALTHFUL FOOD

To the Editor:

We could not attend any of the recent meetings intended to gather public input on the state Health Care Plan. We are, however, very much aware of and concerned about the school programs in northern Oxford County, especially regarding the benefits of proper nutrition and health education. We believe that prevention is the most effective way to reduce healthcare costs at all levels.

Current dietary considerations in many of our schools, despite stated goals, are unsatisfactory from a nutrition standpoint. Attention must be focused on ensuring that our K-6 program in particular is effective in channeling kids away from unhealthy food and toward excellent nutrition both at school and at home. That is going to take some serious parental involvement and community support.

Our interests can best be served through an effective state level initiative that involves parents in combating ignorance as well as the (sometimes subtle) influence of junk food peddlers. It has been done elsewhere to great effect and we can expect similar long-term benefits by understanding the needs for and joys of healthful nutrition.

Investing now in a comprehensive, preventive healthcare program with emphasis in our K-12 school nutrition will ensure the very best long-term result.

FORMER LOCAL WOMEN DEVASTATED BY KATRINA

To the Editor:

I am writing to inform you about a former Vernon Street resident and business owner in Bethel — Louise Robiller. Years ago she and her ex-husband, Joe, bought and developed the old clothes-pin factory in Bryant Pond — turning it into a home, restaurant, and condos.

She and her daughter, Verina, have lived for the last 15-plus years in their home at Pass Christian, Miss., where Louise worked as a chef at Casino Magic. Now, all is gone for Louise and Verina. Their homes were taken by the sea in Hurricane Katrina, as well as all their belongings and Louise's job. Verina's college was also lost to the storm surge. They escaped with the clothes on their backs and wonder in their hearts about the future.

Any type of help for these two sweet, generous people who have always given so much to their community and friends, I know would be greatly appreciated. Louise is currently thinking of relocation to North Carolina, but I believe any option would be open to consideration. She did have a certain type of insurance on her home, but the insurance companies are having a heyday at re-defining "flood," "surge," "wind," and "rain" all to their benefit — shame on them!

The stress and depression level is very high for us who survived. We have survivors' guilt, and I especially so, since my home on the bay was virtually untouched as was my fish camp out on a bayou just north of the Interstate 10.

TV cannot show you the "smell" and horror of our devastation. I drove and walked thru a little bit of it a few days after Katrina and I took some pictures. The area is now a bio-hazard due to the rot of humans, animals, and things. It looks like Hiroshima. Most of the dead have not been identified yet, so the numbers cannot be released.

The government was here immediately after Katrina regardless of what has been reported, FEMA, the military and every state rescue and devastation crew came within hours of Katrina moving onshore. I have never had so much free food, water, and ice in my life. As well as medical care units set up every mile or two. I was stopped in my own neighborhood twice, by a Florida state trooper and a New York state trooper. They are keeping the looters at bay.

My husband, Ed, and I are doing fine, and we will sell both our places and move much further inland. But Louise, is just getting by and could use help. Her cell phone works sporadically and she has no electricity where she is staying. She is in contact with Nancy Chadbourne in Bethel. If you have any ideas for Louise, please contact Nancy or me at (228) 388-555, home or (228) 324-5500, cell. Louise's next mail contact will be: Mrs. Grace Rule, 175 Lakeview Drive, Southern Pines, NC 28337. Verina's cell: (228) 493-0041; Louise's cell: (228) 304-0457.

Thank you very much

IT'S HARVEST FEST TIME

To the Editor:

Our beautiful mountain village is starting to take on a harvest theme and we'd like to encourage everyone to get in the spirit. Whether its fall mums, pumpkins, cornstalks or an imaginative scarecrow, it's all good.

The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce would like to recognize those individuals and businesses who have volunteered to decorate the Welcome to Bethel signs. Sara Matheson, owner of The Café at Bethel Outdoor Adventure will be decorating the Route 2/Mayville Road sign. The staff of the BIG Adventure Center has volunteered to do the Route 2/Lover's Lane sign and Jane Corazzelli and Rob Rizzuto of Alpha Signs are beautifying the sign on Route 26 and Intervale Road. Thanks to all these folks.

The Harvest Fest and Chowdah Cook-off is chock full of activities for everyone. On Friday, several businesses are offering open houses and tours and on Sunday, a guided scenic bicycle ride will be offered in the morning. Saturday offers myriad opportunities on the Bethel Common from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., as well as the Bethel Historical Society's Barn Again! Exhibit and tour and then a wonderful old-time barn dance at A Prodigal Inn on Saturday evening. See the Harvest Fest schedule in this edition for all the details.

We have 14 restaurants participating in the Chowdah Cook-off, which is unprecedented. We also have 17 apple pies, from amateur and professional pastry chefs, entered in the apple pie contest. Anyone can enter, so if you haven't responded but would like to participate, just bring your apple pie to the tent on the Bethel Common by 11:30 Saturday morning. Three $50 gift certificates to the Good Food Store are being awarded to the winners.

The Bethel Harvest Fest is a wonderful event that is made possible through the generosity of the following sponsors: Allen's Coffee Brandy, Oxford Networks, U.S. Foodservice, Hancock Lumber and C. B. Kenworth as well as all the participating restaurants. We hope you will enjoy all three days of this year's event.

QUILT RAFFLE THANKS

To the Editor:

I want to thank all those who have already bought quilt raffle tickets to benefit the Bethel Library, and remind others that there is still time to buy a ticket. The drawing for this beautiful Amish quilt made by the Cross Country Quilters will be on the Bethel Common at 3:30 p.m. during the Harvest Fest, Saturday, Sept. 17.

AMATEUR COOKS WON'T SPOIL THE CHOWDAH

To the Editor:

Last year I inquired about [competing in] the chowder cook-off. I was informed by a very helpful member of the Chamber of Commerce that it was only open to professional chefs and I was welcome to enter the apple pie contest. She also indicated that there was a possibility of an amateur division in 2005.

I called this year and was told that there would be no amateur division after all. Why can't Bethel have two divisions? One for the professionals and one for the amateur cooks.

Anne Harrington

(Chamber Executive Director Robin Zinchuk replies: "Up to this point the Cook-off has been a restaurant-driven promotion, but if individuals would like to participate, the chamber board would certainly consider such an option for future events.") plans, one for a traditional subdivision layout, the second for an "open-space" layout.

They would also be required to place a sign at a conspicuous location on the property to inform the public of the proposed subdivision; and they would be required to submit an analysis of the impact the subdivision would have on municipal services.

Developers would also be required to make and document their provisions to control storm water drainage, erosion and sedimentation.

The amendments also call for inspections during the construction of subdivision roads and drainage systems.

Other topics addressed in the proposed amendments include: phosphorus export to lakes and ponds; protection of significant wildlife habitats; and standards to ensure that existing town roads are in suitable condition to carry increased traffic generated by the subdivision.

The amendments also specify design standards for mobile home parks, and they contain a provision limiting the number of roads or driveways a subdivision can have on the Greenwood Road. No ridge-line regs.

The new subdivision amendments do not directly address one topic much on the mind of some local residents — ridge-line development.

They do, however, give the Planning Board the authority to require developers to buffer "unsightly development, noise and lighting," and to require that lots and structures "be oriented with respect to scenic vistas, natural landscape features, topography and natural drainage areas."

Single-home construction, which is regulated by the town's Land Use Regulation Ordinance, would not be affected by any changes to the Subdivision Ordinance.

Proposed revisions for the Land Use Ordinance are expected to be developed next year, Sparks said.

On Tuesday, however, one proposed amendment to that ordinance will be discussed.

It would authorize the code enforcement officer to issue building permits in non-shoreland zoning areas.

Other items

Also up for discussion Tuesday will a new Site Plan Review Ordinance.

The ordinance is designed primarily to regulate commercial development in the town.

Factors to be taken into consideration by the Planning Board in reviewing such applications include: preserving and enhancing the landscape; the relationship of the proposed building to its neighborhood; vehicular and pedestrian access; parking and circulation; advertising features (notably signs); special features of the project; emergency vehicle access; effect upon existing community services and facilities; water pollution; ground water; floodplain protection; shoreland areas; sewage disposal; stormwater drainage; erosion and sedimentation control; exterior lighting; noise; air pollution; odors; impact on archaeological resources, historic locations and endangered or threatened species; and conformance with Greenwood's Comprehensive Plan.

Criteria are also specified in the Site Plan Ordinance for "home occupations."

Home businesses that meet those criteria are not regulated by the ordinance.

A minor proposed change to the town's General Assistance Ordinance — to adapt revisions and updates to state law, case law, and DHS regulations — is also on Tuesday's agenda.

The public hearing will be held in the Town Office meeting room, and will begin at 5 p.m.

Copies of all materials to be discussed at the hearing are available in the Greenwood Town Office (875-2773).

Relief clearinghouse available

BETHEL — The Bethel Rotary Club is serving as a common collection organization for small groups in the area who have been raising funds for hurricane relief on the Gulf Coast, according to Steve Wight, president of the club. Wight said that 100 percent of funds donated by groups will go to the American Red Cross. Contact Wight at 824-2410 for more information. The club is also working on its own fundraising effort, which will include collecting donations Saturday at its Harvest Fest food booth on the Bethel Common.

Masons offer matching donations

BETHEL — John and Tracy Mason of Bethel have offered to match all donations, up to a total of $5,000, to the American Red Cross Disaster Relief Fund to assist victims of Hurricane Katrina. The offer applies to businesses and individuals in the greater-Bethel, northern Oxford County area. To obtain the match, mail donations to the American Red Cross, P.O. Box 439, Auburn ME 04210. Make checks payable to "American Red Cross Disaster Relief Fund" and make reference on the check to "Bethel Family Dentistry Matching Gift."

Alumni game at Telstar

BETHEL — As part of Homecoming activities, the Telstar Alumni Soccer Game will take place Oct. 1 at Telstar High School at approximately 4 p.m. A $10 donation is asked for all players to help support the soccer teams, a T-shirt is included. Please RSVP to Tim Remington at 824-2136 by Sept. 17 with your graduation date, T-shirt size, and payment arrangements. All past alumni, past and present staff, and current parents of players are eligible to play. The high school varsity team will play at noon and the J.V. at 1:30, against Mt. Abram. Food will be sold all day.

Hunter education reaches milestone

AUGUSTA — The number of students completing the Maine hunter safety course is surpassing the 200,000 mark. "Hunter Education Courses are one of the primary reasons that hunting is one of the nation's safest sports," said R. Dan Martin, commissioner of the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife. "Our instructors have done a remarkable job in educating a generation of hunters." In 1986, the legislature mandated a law requiring all new hunting license holders to successfully complete a hunter education course before getting their license. Prior to that, attendance at hunter safety courses was optional. Each year, the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife provides more than 350 courses on hunting with firearms, bow and arrow, and trapping. These are attended by roughly 7,500 students and taught by over 800 volunteer trained instructors. Other safety courses taught by Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife trained instructors include boating, snowmobiles, and ATVs. The basic Hunter Education course averages about 12 hours of classroom instruction. Each course is taught by trained, certified volunteer instructors according to national guidelines and state standards. The course covers safe firearms handling; wildlife management; game trailing, recovery and care; hunter ethics and responsibility; outdoor safety and survival skills; and map and compass skills. If you are interested in finding out about course availability in your areas, log on to the department web site at www.mefishwildlife.com. The web site is updated every Friday afternoon, or call the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife at 287-8000.

Ski maker heads west

BURLINGTON, Vt. — The Williston, Vt. operation that produces Rossignol and Dynastar skis is being moved to Utah, eliminating about 70 local jobs, the parent company, Quiksilver Inc., announced. The two ski brands helped put the Burlington area on the map as a center for the North American ski industry. The move is scheduled to take place in spring. About 45 Vermont workers will be offered jobs in Utah, said Francois Goulet, president of Rossignol North America. The remaining jobs will be handled from Quiksilver's headquarters in California. Quiksilver is a sports apparel company with its roots in surfing and annual sales in excess of $1 billion. Quiksilver bought Rossignol Group, which included Dynastar and several other ski and snowboard related brands, in

CLARIFICATION

Taxpayers will also pay for new pipe. Last week's article on the replacement water main under the Androscoggin River noted that the work would be paid for by customers of the Bethel Water District, rather than town taxpayers at large. It should also be noted, however, that the town of Bethel is one of those customers — in fact, the largest. Regulations of the Maine Public Utilities Commission require that one-third of the cost of any public water system in Maine be borne by the municipality, in the name of fire protection. Thus, approximately 33 percent of the cost of the water main project (after any possible grants have been applied) will ultimately be borne by Bethel taxpayers.

From the Bethel Police Log:

Saturday, Sept. 10

At 9:35 a.m. Officer Rusty Daley responded to a village business for a report of an unlocked, out-of-town vehicle that had been broken into. Taken were a pre-pay cell phone, a case of CDs and a prescription bottle.

At 10:05 a.m. Officer Rusty Daley responded to a report of an ATV operating at a high rate of speed on the Annis Road. The ATV and driver were located, and the driver was warned about not operating the ATV until it was registered.

At 6:45 p.m. Officer Buddy Richard responded to the Barker Road for a report of a car off the road. The subject was unresponsive in the driver's seat, with the engine running and the shift in drive. The subject woke up and said he was all right. He admitted he had had too much to drink, but refused field sobriety tests. Brian J. Goodrich, 34, of Bethel was arrested for OUI and taken to the Oxford County Jail.

At 10 p.m. Sgt. S.R. White and Officer T.J. Reese stopped a vehicle on Route 5. The driver had an English driver's license, but no passport. Border Patrol was contacted. The Bethel officers were asked to hold the subject until an agent could come to verify his identity. The agent took the subject into custody.

Friday, Sept. 9

At 12:39 a.m. Sgt. S.R. White and Officer Buddy Richard responded to a Main Street business for a report of a fight outside. The two subjects were warned for disorderly conduct and criminal trespass.

At 3:05 p.m. Sgt. S.R. White received a report of a vehicle passing a school bus that had its red lights on. Forms on the incident were completed at the bus garage.

At 5:20 p.m. Officer T.J. Reese responded to a report of a car parked across the street from a residence on Route 232. The driver was identified as the owner of the property on which she was parked.

At 8:48 p.m. Sgt. S.R. White responded to Route 2 and the Barker Road for a property damage accident. A subject had struck a telephone pole.

At 9 p.m. Sgt. S.R. White received a report from a driver that after passing another vehicle on Route 26, the second driver followed the first, tailgating and high-beaming. The vehicle was not located.

Thursday, Sept. 8

At 7:10 p.m. Sgt. S.R. White found a check, issued to an organization, on Main Street.

Wednesday, Sept. 7

At 1:47 a.m. Officer Rusty Daley responded to a report of a noise problem at a Main Street residence. A subject was warned.

At 8:50 p.m. Officer Rusty Daley investigated a traffic accident on the West Bethel Road involving a car and bales of hay that were lying in the road.

Tuesday, Sept. 6

At 10:26 p.m. Officers Travis Fillmore and Rusty Daley stopped a vehicle on Route 2 for a defective headlight. Gilbert S. Harris, 56, of North Conway, N.H., was arrested for OUI.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log. It lists all cases of adults being arrested or issued a criminal summons in the 10 days prior to the newspaper's publication, but does not include all reports of other police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies.

Bethel

Mary Valentine was guest of honor on Thursday at a breakfast at the Sudbury Inn. It was her 80th birthday. Twenty-five women from the West Parish Congregational Church attended.

United Methodist Women met Thursday at the Methodist Church. Plans were made for public suppers to be held the first Saturday of each month. The first supper will be held on Oct. 1 at the Methodist Church.

Lindley and Pauline Wieden are now at their home in Madison. Studi Cross's birthday was Sept. 9. Helping him celebrate were his mother, Jan Cross, his brother and wife, Jack and Sue Cross. The birthday dinner was held at Mexico Chicken Coop.

Area 3 of Pine Tree Quilters met on Tuesday at Turner Center. Ginny Walker has returned to Sudbury Village from a visit with Joan and John Gattcondee in Waldoboro. While there she visited her friends in Waldoboro and Damariscotta. Moody's Diner was the place to see a lot of them. She reports that gas was upwards of $3.89 a gallon and that there was not as much traffic as usual there.

A delicious lobster/steak/hamburger supper, sponsored by the Bethel Fire Department, was held last Saturday evening at the Bethel Fire Station. Vacations are over. Would like to hear from you on what you did (824-2661). Help me with the news.

Farming News from Mayville — by Don Bennett: John Carter has completed harvesting his second crop of hay from the three fields in Mayville that he was having this summer. His corn harvesting has not begun here as yet.

Sunday River Farm, the former Ladd Farm now owned by David McCram, seems to have made a good start on harvesting potatoes. Their first potato digging in the fields directly behind the main farmhouse began before the end of August. He is raising potatoes in the Thurston field this year as a crop rotation. Carter and McCram work together in a crop rotation plan.

Last year, John Carter used the same acreage for corn, but this year his corn was raised in the neighboring field of Bennett's. Geese are already around looking for leftovers, as well as plenty of crows. The largest single hayfield in Mayville is the Harrington field that is bordered by Sunday River Farm, the Androscoggin River and Mayville Road on Route 2. Here the haying crew had baled all the hay by Monday afternoon, Sept. 12. The last bales in the field were being picked up in mid-afternoon.

The Blue Angels roared over Upton on Thursday. We all thought it was thunder, but finally decided the boys were on their way to Brunswick for the Air Show.

The roadsides have a lot of flickers this time of year. They are doing their annual anting. Birds are usually clean little creatures. Many times we have seen a winged creature at the bird bath, fluffing, washing and creating a show of their own. Partridges are often witnessed having a dirt bath in sandy areas of the shoulder of the road. This action is Nature's insecticide because birds are subject to parasites and other creepy crawlers. Preening is an activity usually performed after the bath. This process is accomplished by applying a waxy substance to the feathers to preserve moisture and flexibility, water proofing and cleaning. They obtain

Upton

by Eleanor LeComte
The weekly weather report found Upton cool, dry and pleasant. So far we haven't had a frost, but we should have before the month is over. The lake temperature has been 70 degrees, but cool nights should lower it. Boating has been a pleasant experience. Summer boat traffic is gone, fishing is poor.

The Red Hat Ladies from surrounding communities experienced a wonderful trip up the lake into the Magalloway River on Monday. A trip to Story Land is planned by the group on Friday, Sept. 16, — some old gals acting like kids! Patty Kenyon has had her driveway paved and it looks great.

The small cabin on Route 26 near the New Hampshire line is nearing completion. It's a nice looking addition. Paul Casey was grass/brush cutting on his land when he stepped into a nest of hornets. He ran so fast that he would be a good candidate for the Boston Marathon.

the waxy oil from the preen gland located on the rump at the base of the tail. To preen the bird rubs its bill against this gland, applying the waxy oil to all the feathers of its body. Now, what has this to do with anting? Birds will treat their feathers with ants. Pungent chemicals are disturbed. These chemicals serve to kill feather lice and other skin parasites. The bird will pick up one or more ants in its bill and jab them into their feathers so the ants can do their job. Sometimes they eat the ants. Flickers do both. Smart little critters aren't they!

Mason

by Richard Grover
Mona and I just returned from a two-week trip to Hawaii. We had a great time and enjoyed spectacular tropical scenery both on the island of Oahu and the Big Island (Hawaii).

Our excuse for going there in the first place was the American Legion national convention. The parade and the opening ceremonies were the highlights of the convention, from our viewpoint anyway.

Being a veteran, of course the Arizona Memorial and the Punchbowl National Cemetery were must stops for us, even though we had both seen them before. I think you see something different on each visit that you had not noticed before. For us, it was the Battleship Missouri, berthed adjacent to the Arizona and also the bridge connecting Ford Island to the shore.

We also found a plaque honoring the battleship Oklahoma in the Pearl Harbor museum; the plaque and photo show the ship and individual photos of all the crewmen who died in the attack on Pearl Harbor. We located and took photos of Stanley Allen from Bethel who died and went down with the Oklahoma in the attack and whose last name inspires the second part of the name of the Bethel Legion post — "Mundt-Allen."

After nearly a week enduring the awful traffic on Oahu, we flew to Hawaii, locally referred to as "The Big Island." There, we stayed at the Kilauea Military Camp (KMC), located on the edge of the Kilauea Volcano crater within the Hawaii Volcanoes National Park. The Big Island is a laid back, fairly rural place, much more relaxing and less hectic than Oahu. We spent lots of time exploring volcano craters, caldera, lava flows and the surrounding fauna and flora. We also spent quite a lot of time exploring the seashore and marveling at the spectacular vistas thereon, especially the surf breaking on the black lava coastal promontories.

Our one near disaster occurred during a hike across the tortured lava-scape of the Kilauea-Iki caldera, near the base of the cinder cone where the lava exploded to the height of some 1,500 feet during its last eruption in 1959. As I was taking photos of the large hole at the base of the cinder cone, I somehow dropped the camera, which rather inconveniently bounced into a narrow crevasse, coming to rest, rather precariously, about six or eight inches below where I could reach with either arm. Oh, no!

Looking around, I could see no sticks which might be used to retrieve the camera, so I began removing small rocks from the opening in the crack, hoping to make a hole big enough to get one shoulder deep enough to reach the camera with my fingers, a rather doubtful prospect. While I was so engaged, another fellow who had witnessed the "drop" found a small red flag to which a slender wire about two feet long was attached. Just the ticket. I took the wire and bent one end around, forming a hook with which I was able to snare the camera strap and gingerly lift it out of the crack. What a relief! I thanked the fellow profusely, and he took the flag and wire and re-inserted it into the hole where it was standing as a warning for hikers to come no closer to the "lava hole."

Nearer to home, Elsie Aylward's daughter, Crystal, is a stewardess on a charter airline. Last week she was called for a two-day trip and told not to bring many clothes, as she would soon be home. Nearly a week later, she was still being vectored around to different airports. This trip culminated in a flight to New Orleans to evacuate a plane load of refugees to Raleigh, N.C.

Crystal approached this flight with considerable trepidation, due to some horror stories related to her by some stewardess friends. This trip turned out well, however, as the passengers were pleased and grateful to the crew for bringing them safely to a more comfortable refuge. Crystal said it was a wonderful experience, and that the devastation left by Katrina was even much worse than being portrayed on the TV news programs.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard
Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department

"The days dwindle down to a precious few." That line from an old song sure hits it right on the head as far as summer is concerned. The kids are back in school, Labor Day has come and gone and some of the trees are starting to change color. Apple picking is underway, the night temperatures are dropping and county fairs are starting up. It sure feels and smells like autumn.

What the heck happened to summer? It can't really be ending, I still have watermelon in my fridge! Maybe it's just me, but it seems like summers are not quite as long as they used to be.

In May I made a list of things I wanted to do this summer. The list included various outside chores and projects that should be done and activities I'd like to do. Now that we're into September I have changed the header on the list from "To Do List" to "Wish I Did List."

I wish I had planted all those annuals I bought back in June. I had a great vision of the new flowerbeds I would create and all the blooming color I would enjoy all summer long. My plan was to dig up and create the flowerbeds during my vacation in mid-June, but it rained the entire vacation. I know a little rain wouldn't have hurt me, I certainly wouldn't have melted, but I was sure a sunny day would dawn before vacation ended. Well, it didn't and the next thing I know it's September and I've got a big bunch of dead flowers on my front porch.

I wish I had taken down the Christmas lights from the front porch that now houses the dead flowers. I was going to do that over the Memorial Day weekend, but something came up...like a good book. I just can't pull myself away from a good book for something as unimportant as removing Christmas lights.

Because the lights were still up when I was thinking about the beds I didn't get ready for the annuals, I had the idea to put window boxes along the front of the porch where there is a string of white lights. That would have been very enchanting, but for some reason I never got around to doing that.

On the plus side, I guess I won't have to worry about putting up the Christmas lights in December.

It can't really be ending, I still have watermelon in my fridge!

I wish I had gone to some of the outdoor concerts that take place throughout the summer. I don't have a good excuse for not doing that. Rain was not the issue, but failing memory did play a role. You just can't go to something if you don't remember it until the day after.

If you put "Go to summer concerts" on your "To Do List", it's a good idea to put the dates too. I wish I had thought of that.

I wish I had organized more family cookouts. We did have a nice one on the Fourth of July, but there were several nice weekends after that when we could have gotten together.

I blame the rest of the family for those events not happening. I tried, I really did, but whenever I mentioned the idea I found that my children were just too busy planting flowers and working around the outside of their houses. I guess they don't realize that they can put that kind of thing off for later.

I wish I had gone for more walks this summer. Actually, I didn't go for any walks at all. Every time I thought about taking a nice stroll it rained or was too hot or I decided I would be too busy planting flowers that never got planted.

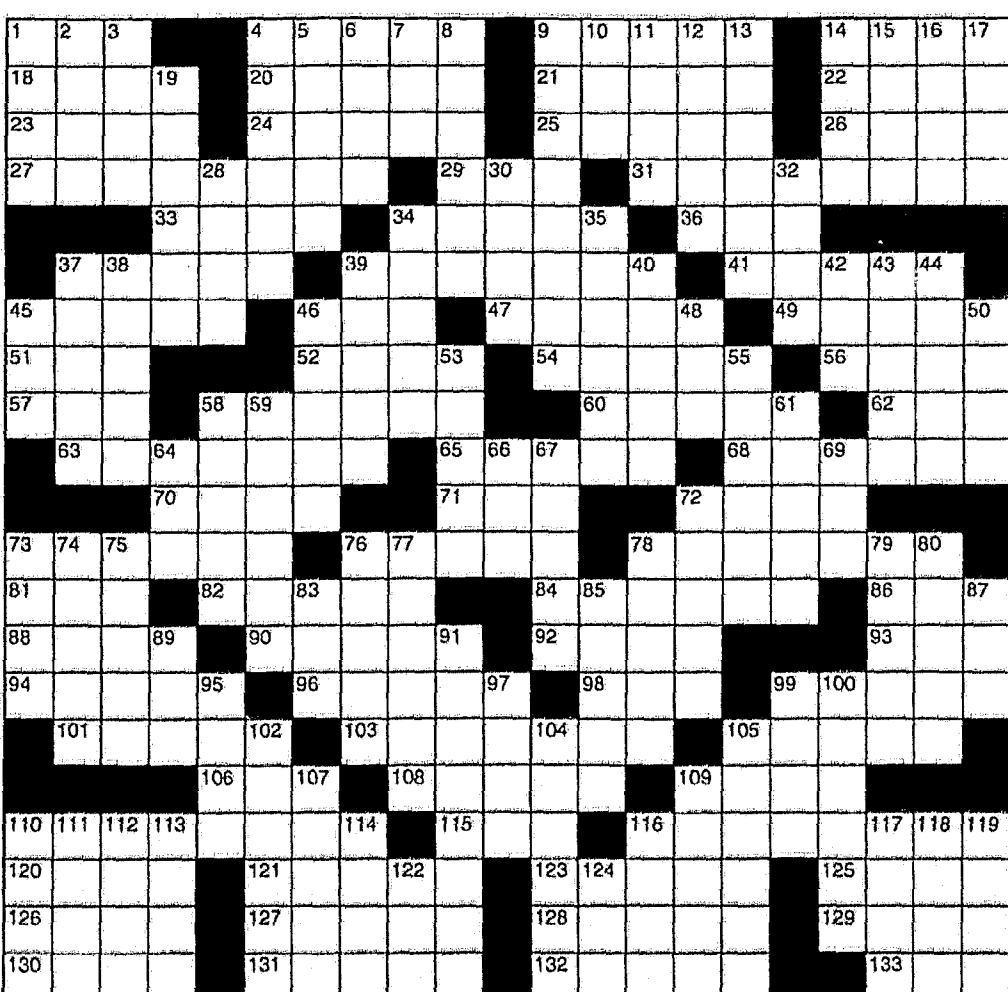

My intentions were really good. It would have been a nice way to combine exercise with some leisure time, but the next thing I knew it was September. I know, I can walk in September too, but now I have to take the time to get rid of those darn dead plants.

I wish I had gone berry picking. I had planned to make a lot of strawberry jam, but that season got away from me. I was going to pick a lot of blueberries and freeze them to use in muffins and pies throughout the winter, but that season was shorter than I expected. I don't even know what happened to raspberry and blackberry seasons. I guess they got away from me too.

It is really amazing how fast the time goes by. Now it's September and before you know it the snow will be falling and the temperatures will be plummeting.

But, September can be a beautiful month and the way I see it, it will be a good month to spend some time sitting on my front porch among the dead flowers and Christmas lights whiling away the hours doing a little wishing.

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson

Hi readers. Recently Betty Morrison had a couple days off from her work in Oxford. Sharon and Howard Ber- man are in the process of sell- ing the cottage at Keewaydin Lake. I shall miss the family gatherings up there and sit- ting on the beach. As we get older, things have to change. I did get the tomatoes canned and they and piccalilli are on the shelves down cellar and look good. Now, today, I made the mock mincemeat and it, too, looks good. Thanks, Mr. Randall for the good deal on the tomatoes, and if you like mincemeat, I will make you a pie. People do not realize what little time retired people have. I mean we are really busier than when we went out to work. The dog and cat require quite a lot of time but they are worth it. The Stoneham Rescue put on their annual Labor Day pan- cake (and much more) break- fast this past Sunday. They had a good turnout of people and the meal was good as usu- al. We do not have to go far, just across the road, and when we got up we could smell the bacon cooking. Ed Barker and others tend the bacon and do a good job at it. How many years, Ed? Last Wednesday, the mem- bers of the friendly Senior Citizens met at the A.J.'s Ev- erything Restaurant here in Stoneham with 17 members present. It was voted to donate a sum of money to the Salva- tion Army for the Hurricane Katrina victims and survi- vors who have lost so much. It was also voted to go out next month on Thursday, Oct. 13, for a fall foliage trip to Teena's Restaurant in Rumford. Mem- bers are to meet at the North Waterford Church at 10 a.m. and leave shortly after. We will try to get a bus, but if not available, we will carpool. I talked with Marilyn Jones recently and she tells me that her daughter, Wanda Ryerson and family have moved back to Maine from South Carolina and are living in Oxford. Wel- come back, Wanda, also Joe and Zachary. The next Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Tent 19 will be Sept. 28 at the K. of P. Hall here in Stoneham at 7:30 p.m. Please members, try and attend. You are need- ed. The selectmen had a meeting last week and voted to change their meeting night to Tues- days effective immediately. It will be from now on the first and third Tuesday from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

The nights are getting cooler, but the days have been really nice and warm. We sat out beside the pond in our lawn swing for a while this afternoon. It is a little cool first thing in the morning now, but it is really great in the after- noon sun. My brother, Steve McLain, talked to his son, Stephen, in Mississippi to find out how things are going. Stephen has been busy clearing the debris from the trees that were knocked down around his house. My brother stopped by on Saturday to visit and drop off some of his delicious to- matoes and a few cucumbers from his garden. I will cer- tainly miss the fresh produce when the garden stops produc- ing, which will be very soon. Hugh and I went to Gorham, N.H., to do our weekly grocery shopping and as I have men- tioned before, we usually run into some of our neighbors ei- ther in Shaw's or Wal-Mart. Well this week we ran into my cousin, Richard McLain, who lives in Shelburne, N.H. We had a chance to catch up on what was going on with ev- eryone, since I had not talked to him for about a year. He said that one of his sons was living in Montana, but not close to where my neph- ew, Joey McLain, is living. A second son is serving in Iraq and the third one is involved with communications at the White House. He was one of many who accompanied the president on his trip to Loui- siana and Mississippi to view the devastation from the hur- ricane. Cynthia and Paul Handlen stopped by recently, and she said that she is still trying to work up a crew to do the cleanup on the North Road on Saturday, Sept. 17. Give her a call at 836-2155 or e-mail her at handlen@megalink.net if you can help out. Many hands make light work! This may turn out to be a job well done that will last only a short time. If only a few people look at the work done and then stop and think about throwing out their garbage, it will be worthwhile. It is impossible to educate ev- eryone that it is wrong to lit- ter the roadsides. They know, but choose to ignore that they are creating an eyesore for the people who travel the North Road all the time. I received some sad news from a former resident of Gil- ead this past week. A very good childhood friend of mine passed away on Aug. 31. It was very hard to read his obituary in the last issue of the Bethel Citizen. George Decoster, Jr. grew up in Gilead and was only a couple of years older than I. I had been in contact with his sister, Nancy Corriveau, a few months ago when she asked me to put something in my col- umn about his battle with can- cer. He was always known as "Buddy" to all of us kids when we were growing up. He had hoped to return to Maine for a visit this fall, but that was not to be. He will be sadly missed by his family and friends. My thoughts go out to Nancy, Ka- thie and Denis, Jr. and other family members. I received an e-mail from Heide and Bo Munro, and she said that she had just returned home from a trip to Germany to attend a wedding and visit with her family. They are hav- ing an Open House on Satur- day, Sept. 24, at their home in Gilead on the North Road for everyone to meet their daugh- ter-in-law and granddaughter. The house number is 2577 and 2441 (A-Frame) on the North Road heading toward New Hampshire. Gilead Historical Society This is a reminder to every- one that the GHS is having a Potluck Supper on Saturday, Sept. 24, at 5 p.m. at the Town Hall. The public is invited. In fact, we are hoping that not only the residents of Gilead will come but our neighbors from nearby will attend also. All anyone needs to do is bring a food item such as a main dish, salad or dessert to share. This is the only communi- ty event that was planned for this year, but the annual meet- ing will be held after the sup- per and, hopefully, the GHS can make plans for next year. If anyone has any ideas, please let us know. Got any news? Call 836-2987 or e-mail chapmal@hotmail. com.

Newry

by Sylvia Harrington

On Friday, I headed for Or- ington where Heather and John Austin and daughters, Abigail and Emma, live. I stayed over- night with Heather's parents, Tim and Carol Small, who live about three miles from them. The reason for my visit was to be with them all, as the Aus- tins are moving to Dallas, Ga., this week. I returned Saturday evening, but we did manage to visit between all the activity of such a move. On my way to and from the Bangor area I watched gas prices from as low as $2.90 to as high as $3.44. I know from a previous trip that the $2.90 price at the Norridgewock station only accepts cash and you do the filling. Labor Day Weekend Sand- ee and Leon Dunn, who were at South Arm on Richardson Lake, had company from Cape Cod for a Saturday night meal. Kevin, Lynn and Joe Barry, who arrived at their place on the Branch Road Thurs- day evening, were joined by friends, Richi, Bev and Ken- ny O'Connell on Friday. The two families drove up to South Arm on Saturday, returned to Newry later that evening and on Sunday headed back to the Cape. This past weekend Sand- ee and Leon were at the Sam- boree at Fryeburg. It started Tuesday, but they met up with friends from West Bethel, Dix- field, Newry, Oquossoc, Rum-ford and Portland last Friday around 1 p.m. By meeting outside the gates they are able to camp together.

I stopped by the David Berry's home Labor Day Weekend, hoping to find out how they are doing and to see if Elise had gone back to school. They were not at home, but I later found out they were visiting the Frank Lowell family at their camp in the woods (I think it is at C-Pond).

I haven't heard about the Mother's Club. I do hope they are able to continue. We do have lots of young mothers in the area.

Sylvia and Bill Wight are still at Ledgeview, and those of us who know and care about them are sending our best wishes.

Locke Mills

A benefit box supper for Jerry Johnson will be held at the Woodstock School starting at 4 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 17. A 50/50 raffle and a silent auction will be offered.

Lorene Mills has returned home after spending last week at CMMC in Lewiston.

Mandy Konkright and husband, Mat, and son, Ricky, have moved to the house in Greenwood owned by Jimmy and Lynn Cobb.

Hanover

by Clem Worcester
For a while now, we have been telling folks about the Yard Sale to benefit the Gardner Roberts Memorial Library. Well, the time has come. Next Saturday, Sept. 17, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. the sale will take place at the Hanover Town Office. There is a good selection of items to look over, and be sure to check out the food table with all sorts of homemade foods.

The community barbecue will start at noon on Sunday, Sept. 18, at Stony Brook Recreation. Join us in welcoming back Barb and Irv Robinson after their three-month bicycle ride from Bar Harbor to the Pacific Ocean.

Barb and Irv returned by train, arriving in Portland on Sept. 12.

There are 51 students enrolled in area schools from Hanover this year. Seventeen go to school in the SAD43 system, 26 are in the SAD 44 system and eight go to Gould Academy. Of the 10 children in the SAD43 elementary schools, mostly at Meroby in Mexico, two are first-time kindergarten students.

They are Katelyn Gross and Lucas Beaudoin. In all there are six students in grade 12 who may be graduating at the end of the year.

Do you have any hazardous waste? If you do, help protect your home and the environment by turning it in during the local collection day. For the towns of Bethel, Greenwood, Hanover, Newry and Woodstock the collection day will be Saturday, Sept. 24, between the hours of 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. at the SAD44 School Bus barn in Bethel at the corner of Main Street and Cross Street. Before going you need to pick up a HHW Voucher for household hazardous waste at the Town Office. There is more information at the Town Office or you can log on to www.av-cog.org for more details. Collection day for the Rumford area is Oct. 15.

Just about everybody knows that Gordon Howe is a lifelong Baltimore Orioles fan. A while back, Gordie received some tickets to go to a Red Sox game when they were playing the Orioles.

So, off to Boston he went, picked up his brother-in-law and headed over to Fenway Park. Full of excitement to even be there they made their way through the line to the ticket window.

It must have been a great let-down when the ticket agent told them that their tickets were for the day before. Gordie, being his usual jovial self, says he enjoyed his trip to Boston and had a good visit with his relatives. But — did the Sox or the Orioles win that night?

West Bethel

by Lorrie Hoeh
Summer at the Hoehstead officially ended on Saturday when we had our first light frost of the year. Even though the thermometer registered no lower than 34 degrees, down at ground level the grass was white and crunchy. Fortunately, the veggies were not affected. However, killing frost can't be too far off.

Sunday was Grandparents' Day. Our oldest daughter called, suggesting that a family hike would be a good activity for the day. And so the Siegels of Bethel, the Stancioffs of Chesterville, and the Hoehs of the Flat Road all assembled at the trailhead for Black Mountain in Sumner and hiked to the top on Sunday afternoon. Some sections were quite steep, but with an unhurried pace and occasional rest stops, we all (six adults and four children, 7 to 15) reached the top and admired the view.

There were parts of the trail that had been torn up really badly by skidders, and branches, rocks, and logs had been left across the trailway. Logging is an important industry, vital to the local economy, but a little effort with a bulldozer to put things to right would have been appreciated by these and other hikers.

Brenda Emmett called to report on Colleen Boyd's unfortunate accident. Colleen was out scraping her house, in preparation for painting, and she fell and broke her ankle. She spent some time at Stephens Memorial Hospital getting said ankle repaired, and she is now at Norway Rehab, continuing her recuperation.

While Brenda and I chatted, I learned that she moved here from Texas — quite a change for a southern gal. She first lived with her daughter in Massachusetts, and now she resides in West Bethel in her daughter's ski house. She is hoping to start an in-home gourmet cooking business. More on this another week.

The drawing for the Bethel Library quilt will be held Saturday at the Harvest Fest. So this is your last chance to buy tickets for the Amish-style quilt which was created by the Cross Country Quilters of Bethel. Tickets are available at the library, $1 each, or six for $5. I had a hand in the making of the quilt, so I have a personal interest in your buying tickets.

Let me also remind you of the apple pie contest the Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring at the Harvest Fest. I know there are some great bakers in West Bethel, so be sure you enter. Oxford County Fair started this week, and the Pleasant Valley Grange was represented there, thanks to the efforts of John and Pauline Applin and another half dozen or so members. They were there Friday and Saturday setting up exhibits, and the Applins were back on Sunday, delivering the garden produce, baked goods, and fancy work in time for judging. Next week I'll be able to tell you the results of the judging.

News flash: Don and Connie Vautour, who used to live on the Flat Road before moving to Waterboro, have become grandparents for the first time! Connie sent a picture of the new baby to Jane Hosterman and reported that she and Don are "on Cloud Nine." Congratulations to them. As Erma Bombeck always said, "If I'd known they were so much fun, I'd have had the grandchildren first."

Hope to hear from you with news. Call 836-3011, or e-mail to dhoe@megalink.net.

The annual meeting of 1918 Club was scheduled to meet in Portland on Sept. 13. Attending from this area will be President Violet Swain and Robert; Vice President Bill Smith and Paula; and Winnie and Ray Barker, Rumford Center.

Burial services for Guy Williams, son of Jack Williams, Wayland, Mass., will be held at the Woodlawn Cemetery on Sept. 17 at 1 p.m.

The Andover Historical Society will be having an open house on Friday, Sept. 30, from 1:30 to 4 p.m. There will be special displays of vintage clothing and toys. If you have items that you would be willing to have on display, contact Bev S., Norma F., or Trudy A. The society building will also be open tomorrow, Sept. 16, along with the East Andover School House.

Rally Sunday for the Calvary Bible Church Sunday School was held on Sept. 11. Supt. Scott Farrington has the following teachers ready for opening classes on Sept. 18 at 9:30 a.m.: pre-school and kindergarten, Cheryl Morin; grades 1-2-3, Celia Bailey; grades 4-5-6, Linda Putnam; teen girls, Adrienne Gallant; teen boys, Donald Bailey; and adults, Pastor O'Keefe.

Marge Stinson has returned to her home after spending a month with her daughter, Jeanne Shafer, and family in Michigan. Her youngest daughter, Donna Joy Gagne of Stoneham, flew to Michigan to accompany her mother home.

Brian and Sue Mills and family traveled to Great East Lake on Saturday to attend a retirement party for their brother-in-law, Bob Vachon, of Brookfield, N.H.

Happy big 60th birthday to Dwight Hutchins.

Next Saturday, Sept. 24, will be the fifth-graders first bottle drive. (As many of you know, the fifth-graders raise money throughout the school year to help pay for their end-of-the-year field trip.) The bottle drive will start at 9 a.m.

Get well wishes to my mother, Dottie, who has been in the hospital recently.

West Paris

by Joyce Lamb
Now that fall is fast approaching the weather is warm and sunny during the days. Frost has been predicted, the Easter lily that has two large buds is doing well and has to be covered at night. I may have spring in my flowerbed in another week.

The Rev. Herbert Adams will be the minister at the West Paris Universalist Church on Sunday, Sept. 18, at 9 a.m. His topic will be "The Healing Power of Forgiveness." He was minister here for several years and is now retired. We look forward to greeting him again. Jim Burke is the organist. A coffee hour follows. All are welcome.

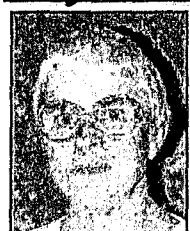

This past week I spent the day with my son-in-law, Mike Seaton, in Augusta looking for a different car. After trying out several small cars I believe I have found one that should do me for a few years. Everything appears to be good with many extras that my old one does not have. But it is not red, as I wish it could be. Dark green is less noticeable though and should not attract the attention of the blue cars with blue lights if I exceed the speed limit.

School has started for the season. The High School and Jr. High children have to get up and around very early for the bus stops near here at 6:40 every morning. The drivers are prompt, for I can tell time by their arrival.

The early morning walkers are still going strong. We started our walking three mornings a week on June 29, 2001 and leave from the Universalist Church at 7:30 a.m. We walk every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday regardless of the weather. The only exception is 0 or below degrees with the wind blowing. All are welcome to join us for the two-mile walk. We all agree that the walking helps keep us going as we age.

Buffy had another trip to the vet's for his shots were due. He did not feel well for two days. He reminded me of my babies after they had their shots many years ago.

There will be a Benefit Supper for Jerry Johnson on Saturday, Sept. 17, starting at 4 p.m. at the Woodstock Elementary School. Adults will be $5 and children under 12, $3.50. For more information, call 665-2211.

Services at the Baptist Church are Sunday School at 9:15 a.m., morning worship at 10:30 a.m., choir practice at 5 p.m., and evening service at 6 p.m. Wednesday evening at 6:30 is prayer meeting. Thursday at 9 a.m. is ladies' prayer time.

On Wednesday, Sept. 21, the Woodstock Extension will meet at the Town Annex. Meeting is for state meeting and starts at 10:30 a.m. Bring a brown bag lunch.

Franklin Grange 124 will hold a meeting on Monday, Sept. 19. It will be joint installation of officers with West Paris Grange. There will be a supper.

There were around 23 at the Woodstock-Greenwood Senior Citizens dinner last week. A delicious luncheon was served by the Star Birthday Club, and a very interesting talk was given by Gil Whitman. He had many things there that he had made and they were very nice.

Kay Hoover has returned to New York after visiting her son and family, Steve, Beth and Marybeth, for a week.

Paul Billings has given the Historical Society some items. The Society Museum offers an exceptional collection of artifacts. Go to a meeting this fall or winter and see for yourself. Meetings are held on the second Saturday of each month at 7 p.m.

The research library at the museum covers a wide variety of subjects and includes many books. Most were used but useful. Larry encourages you to visit Whitman Library to do your research this fall and winter. The society has Ruby Emery's books on Hamlin's Gore and the little History of Woodstock still for sale.

Curator Larry Billings has purchased some supplies for the museum. He also gave a small donation to Channel 2 for their kindness to the society. He gave a sign and a print of a rose to the society. He has donated at several places to people who were in Hurricane Katrina.

East Bethel

by Nancy Mercer
The last service at the East Bethel Church had a good turnout.

Alder River Grange had a meeting on Sept. 9 and gained a new member, Inez Brown of Norway. She is an affiliate member with Alder River now.

Alder River Grange will have a public supper on Sept. 17. The menu is baked chicken breast with mashed potatoes, veggies, casseroles, salads and pies (maybe ice cream cake also).

Also on Sept. 17 is the Barn Again tour in the Bethel area with three barns in East Bethel. There will be coffee, lemonade, homemade donuts and finger sandwiches at the hall for a small sum. There will be a barn dance at A Prodigal Inn (former Douglass place) that night.

Alder River Grange will have a Ham Harvest Supper on Oct. 8. There will be a humorist after the supper, 7 p.m. The charge for all will be $10, $6 for the supper and $4 for the show.

The last Grange supper will be on Nov. 12, a turkey supper with all the fixings and the veterans will get a free supper.

If anyone has news, give me a ring at 824-3350. Had a nice red sun set while I was getting the news.

Have a nice week. God Bless the Troops.

Albany

by Dana & Sheila Dyke

Greetings and hello from Albany Township.

Our dear neighbor and friend these past five years (since we've lived in Albany), Debra Meisner, has sold her home on top of the hill and moved from our neighborhood. Her son has a wonderful educational opportunity, and she, of course, wanted to be near him and his new school.

When we first moved to the area into the farmhouse on Picnic Hill Road, she was the first (well, along with Ken Carstons) to welcome us to the neighborhood. Since we moved across the way from her, we have been able to share mailbox conversations, look out for her cat, and enjoyed a wave or two as we all went about our days. We pray the very best for her and her son, and hope that one day she will move back into the neighborhood. She was a wonderful neighbor, a very pleasant person to know, and we will miss her.

We have embarked on a new adventure: home schooling. We decided to take David out of the school system and teach him at home. So far, so good. And we're learning quite a lot as well. When we first had Dyana, we had contemplated home schooling then; however, the system wasn't geared to it and parents had to jump through all kinds of hoops in order to do so. Now, more than a decade later, the state has made it easier for parents to home school. We're praying that it will work out well for all of us.

We cannot get over the overwhelming response from the folks Sheila works with at the mountain to the Hurricane Katrina relief efforts. So many donated clothing, baby items, food, etc.

Last Friday morning Sheila and Dyana took many of the donated items to Terriane Bennett's room and there were a lot of items waiting pickup there — stuffed animals, bottled water, granola bars, clothing, etc.

On our way back to the car, Dyana grabbed several of her friends to help lug in the rest of the bags, and Nicole grabbed a young man heading into the school to help as well. We know that they got stares on their way in, but, it's always nice when young people help out as well.

The Hurricane Katrina disaster relief still needs items, bottled water, non-perishable food, and funds to help the folks get back to life in as normal a manner as possible. There are many, many groups you can contact in order to make donations.

It's so great people giving what they can.

Someone told Sheila that our column has been lacking. He's right: haven't been taking the time to contact people. We've gotten so busy with jobs, the kids (new baby and all), the house, etc., that we've kind of disconnected from the community in a way.

We most likely will still not have the time to call everyone we would like to in order to get news to put in the column; so, if you have something you really feel needs to go into the column, please do not hesitate to get in touch with us. We would love to hear from you and get your news out to the community.

Last Thursday was the last of the suppers at the Albany Church. We weren't able to attend the last couple, but, we know that as usual the food and company was great (as always).

Keep your eyes open for announcements for when they start up again — next summer.

Best wishes for a happy and safe week. God Bless and Keep.

Waterford

by Rockie Graham
Oxford County Fair starts this week, Wednesday, the 14th.

It sounds like a fun time with some different activities. I admit, when I was young, I always wanted to be a cowboy. Now that I am older, it doesn't intrigue me at all. Maybe I should go anyway and talk to those that call themselves real cowboys.

Next week, Sept. 23-25, is my favorite fair. That's the Common Ground Fair. Unfortunately for those of us who live around here, it is way in Unity. Even so, we may go for one day. In the past, I went all three days, sometimes as a worker and sometimes as a volunteer. It is a great place to hang out, and at the end of the day food is available for a little less money. In any case, there is good food there. Two years ago we worked in recycling and had a blast.

This Saturday, the 17th, is the Bethel Harvest Fest and Chowdah Cook-off. Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, this is a good eating, fun time. There is also an apple pie contest the same day. FMI: 824-2282.

We have a family living nearby in Mason Township who are hurricane Katrina survivors. They are Robert D'Aquin, his wife, Geraldine Sammartino, and their daughter, Lindsay. Lindsay is now a student at Telstar. The family is staying at Bill Ullman's renovated schoolhouse in Mason Township. Robert is looking for work. He is a computer programmer, from what I understand. Anyone with employment info can reach them at 836-2140.

This weekend, Saturday, Sept. 17, local residents can bring their Universal Waste to Norway. Vouchers must be obtained ahead of time at the Waterford Transfer Station. Albany residents, if they prefer to go to Bethel, can bring theirs to the Bethel Bus Garage on Sept. 24. They, also, must get a voucher at Waterford Transfer Station. Others preferring to go to Bethel are also free to do so, but must have a voucher. To summarize: all residents of Waterford, Stoneham, Albany and Mason wishing to dispose of Universal Waste can do so in Norway on Sept. 17 and Bethel (at the bus garage) on Sept. 24. All must have vouchers from Waterford Transfer Station. Bethel residents go to Bethel Town Office for information.

After this, hazardous waste collection will be available more frequently in Lewiston at AVCOG's new facility. The new facility is located at Lewiston Solid Waste facility and will be available three Saturdays a month from April through November.

Remember: the Waterford Transfer Station is back on regular hours. That means that Tuesday and Thursday we open at noon and close at 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday hours remain the same, Saturday 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Sunday 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.

I must wish Cassidy Perkins of Stoneham a belated Happy Birthday — it got lost in a missing column. Cassidy is 8 years old and the daughter of Rosemary Hart of Waterford and Randy Perkins.

A Happy Birthday also goes out to David Hart of Waterford who celebrates his birthday Sept. 17.

Others can let me know about birthdays they wish to see in this column.

Have a great week. Enjoy our cool nights and warm days.

From the Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

As one of the activities highlighting the current Smithsonian Institution traveling exhibit, "Barn Again! Celebrating an American Icon" at the Bethel Historical Society's Dr. Moses Mason House, the society will be sponsoring a barn tour of area barns on Saturday, Sept. 17, beginning at 10 a.m. and continuing throughout the day until 4 p.m. More than a dozen barns are expected to be open to the public and some will feature old-time activities such as cider pressing, spinning and woodworking. Tickets costing $10 each for the tour will be available all day at the society's museum shop in the O'Neil Robinson House.

There will also be a book signing at the Robinson House from 1 to 4 p.m. by Robert W. Cook for his book dealing with the Parmachenee Lake Region of Maine and John S. Danforth. The official title of his book is "Chasing Danforth: A Wilderness Calling, The Story of a Man's Quest for Adventure in the Wilderness of Maine, Florida and Idaho During the Turn of the 20th Century."

Coffee and homemade doughnuts plus finger sandwiches will be available during the day at Alder River Grange in East Bethel (1895 Intervale Road).

At 5 p.m. the Grange will hold a public supper. There will also be food and activities on the Bethel Common as part of the Harvest Fest celebration. All of this will be followed by a barn dance ($5 per person admission) featuring the Richard Felt Orchestra at A Prodigal Inn barn in the Mayville section of town, which will begin at 7 p.m. and continue through the evening.

Anyone wishing further information should call the society at 824-2908 or (800) 834-2910.

The Maine Humanities Council presents "Barn Again! Celebrating an American Icon," an exhibition organized by the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service (SITES) and the National Building Museum with the assistance from the National Trust for Historic Preservation. Barn Again! is a registered trademark owned by the Meredith Corporation and the National Trust for Historic Preservation. This project was made possible through the generous support of the John S. and James L. Knight Foundation and the Hearst Foundation. Additional funding has been provided by the National Endowment for the Humanities, the Smithsonian Institution Special Exhibition Fund, and the Smithsonian Educational Outreach Fund.

40th Annual Meeting
Kirk F. Mohny, assistant director, Maine Historic Preservation Commission, was the featured speaker in place of Christi Mitchell, architectural historian of the Commission, on Maine Barns at the 40th annual meeting of the Bethel Historical Society held on Sept. 8 on Society Director Stan Howe's side lawn. Due to a back injury, Ms. Mitchell was unable to attend. In a slide lecture, Mohny discussed Maine barns and other outbuildings. He took a broad look at how agriculture and settlement patterns developed throughout the area and how these patterns changed over time. He then focused on images of Maine barns in art and poetry and explored the theme of how together they created and reinforced idealized conceptions of Maine as a rural state. This lecture was the first of a series scheduled in connection with the Smithsonian "Barn Again! Celebrating an American Icon" exhibition currently open to the public in the society's Dr. Moses Mason House exhibit hall.

A social hour, chicken barbecue and time to visit the exhibit preceded the annual meeting and lecture portion of the program. A special "guest" was "Piglet" from Pooh Corner Farm to emphasize the barn theme of the meeting.

During the 40th annual meeting, Vice President Al Cressy pointed out that the 2004 annual meeting was reported in The Courier and announced that the annual financial report would appear in The Courier when it becomes available later in the year.

A Moment of Silence was announced for all those members who have died since the last annual meeting. Those remembered were Gilman Page, Muriel Whitney, Virginia Hood, Wilma Gorman, Edna Curtis, Thomas Ford, Stanley Lord, Arthur Gilbert, Sue Wight, Filmore Clough, Gwilym Roberts, David Glascock, Hope Tibbetts, and William Hastings, Sr.

Cressy then reviewed some of the highlights since the last annual meeting: a record 107 new members and six business/corporate members added to the rolls, over 70 donations to the research library and museum collection, the hosting of a number of successful special events, sponsorship of an antiquarian supper, the opening of an Oxford County, Newry 200 and the Smithsonian "Barn Again! Celebrating an American Icon" exhibits. The society also sponsored two lectures on Oxford County history, hosted meetings of the Pequawket League of Historical Societies, the Molly Ockett DAR chapter, and the Oxford County League of Historical Societies. The society also offered a course on northern New England and Canada in the fall and one on Maine farming in the spring.

Society Director Stan Howe presented the 2005 Marjorie MacArthur Noll Volunteer Service Award to Alden and Mabel Kennett for their long service to the society extending over more than 25 years. Alden Kennett was long active on the society's Research Committee and headed up the militia activities for Indian Raid '81. He also served as vice president, president and trustee of the society and as a longtime member of the Annual Fund, Craft and Investment committees. He has long been active in demonstrating traditional crafts at various special events. Mabel Kennett has also been active on the Research Committee and as a very active traditional craft demonstrator at society special events, especially those dealing with quilts.

Dean Walker, chair of the Nominating Committee, representing the general membership, presented the report: president, Allen Cressy; vice president, Susan Herlihy; secretary and clerk of the trustees, Sarah Tucker; treasurer, Grace McKivergan; trustees for three years, Walter Hatch and Arlan Jodrey. The other members of the Nominating Committee included Arlene Lowell, representing the general membership and Alvin Barth, retiring trustee, representing the Board of Trustees. Without dissent, the report was accepted and the slate was declared elected.

Cressy thanked the two retiring trustees, Barbara Lapham and Alvin Barth for their service and dedication to the society.

Two members of the 2006 Nominating Committee representing the general membership were elected: Arlene Lowell and Dean Walker.

Other committees also reported, Amy Davis for Garden and Grounds, and Al Cressy for Long-Range and Strategic Planning.

Howe and Cressy then presented nine certificates to new honorary members, who must be at least 75 years old and have compiled a long record service to the society. This is the society's membership honor.

Those honored included Adaline Clough (longtime volunteer in the Research Library and faithful recorder of cemetery inscriptions in area graveyards); Walter Hatch (former secretary/clerk of the trustees, trustee, vice president, president, currently board vice chair, active on a number of committees and special events); Carolyn Hatch (assisted with many special projects and faithful cleaner of the kitchen and bathroom for several years); Richard Carter (longtime guide at the annual farming and logging exhibit during Sudbury Canada Days); Pauline Davis (longtime researcher for programs on local streets and their preparation for publication in The Courier); Kenneth Bohr (served on Board of Trustees as secretary/clerk, longtime chair of Preservation Committee, quietly helped the society in many ways); Gwyneth Bohr (assisted with special events through the years and helped the society in many ways); Alden Kennett (longtime officer and committee member, active in traditional craft demonstrations); and Mabel Kennett (longtime volunteer, particularly those relating to traditional crafts, especially those dealing with quilts).

From the Bethel Rotary Club

The Bethel Rotary Club is serving as a common collection organization for small groups in the area who have been raising funds for hurricane relief on the Gulf Coast. One hundred percent of donated funds will go to the American Red Cross. Contact Steve Wight at 824-2410 for more information.

The club is also working on its own fundraising efforts, one of which will be collecting donations Saturday at the club's Harvest Fest food booth on the Bethel Common.

More than a dozen club members will be attending the annual District Conference Sept. 22-25 at the Balsams in Dixville Notch, N.H.

Several members recently attended a dinner at Camp Susan Curtis in Stoneham. During the summer the group, led by Scott Hynek, constructed a unique bridge over a stream on a hiking trail at the camp.

Recent speakers at weekly Rotary meetings have included:

Terrie Anne Bennett of Bethel, who described her Rotary-sponsored Group Study Exchange trip to Turkey. Terrie visited many places of cultural interest, including several dozen mosques, and attended a number of Turkish Rotary gatherings.

Marcel Polak of the Ma-hoosuc Land Trust, who spoke to us about MLT's efforts to preserve three key properties in the Bethel area: Buck's Ledge in Woodstock, Rumford White Cap in Rumford, and the boat landing property in Gilead.

Kathy Kunkle, a counselor at Gould Academy and wife of Head of School Dan Kunkle, who gave a classification talk on her experiences. A native of the Boston area, she holds a bachelor's degree in Latin and a master's in Classics and teaching. She and Dan were most recently at a private school in California before coming to Gould.

The club's newest member is Dwayne Bennett of Bennett's Automotive in Bethel. He was inducted this week.

The club also said goodbye to 22-year-member Dave Preble, who has taken a new job as a pharmacist in the Norway area.

Anyone interested in possibly becoming a member of the Bethel Rotary Club should contact Steve Wight at 824-2410.

From the Bethel Library

On Sept. 12, the trustees voted to proceed with the creation of a new computing center, to be located on the library's second floor. Three computers (two new and one existing), along with associated furniture and wiring, and a general sprucing up of the space will be supported by the Library Improvement Fund at a cost not to exceed $4,000. One unit will remain on the first floor as a handicapped access machine. Computer use has bloomed in recent years, with 2,017 sessions logged during 2004-2005.

More good news on computing front: the Internet connection will soon take a giant leap forward, with the installation of a T-1 line. This represents a huge increase in interaction and downloading speed, well in excess of that provided by the current 56k dial-up modem service. Our computers, which will be affiliated with the Maine State Library System, will be on a par with the service connections at the SAD44 schools and Gould Academy.

Landscaping improvements continue at the library, as attention is now being paid to the side facing the Bethel Historical Society's O'Neil Robinson House, in the vicinity of the handicapped access ramp. Dave Freiday of Earth Design Associates has designed and installed the new plantings, which are being financed by gifts of family members and friends to the Ruth W. Wight Memorial Fund. Next spring an attractive memorial bench will grace the area.

The annual Children's Summer Reading Program, which began on June 22, concluded on Aug. 18 with a surprise field trip to Bethel's BIG Adventure Center. Readers and their parents enjoyed a picnic lunch and participated in laser tag, mini-golf, and on the water slide. Lots of pages were turned during the summer of 2005.

The 2004-2005 Annual Fund closed on June 30, having received 196 gifts totaling $14,662. The dollars, representing a new record for library annual giving, have supported new acquisitions for the adult and children's collections as well as building maintenance and general operations.

Grateful thanks to the following donors, all of Bethel, whose gifts were received during the month of June: Arlene Lowell, in honor of Sarah and Kelsey Gamble; Marna McGinniss; and Dexter and Janet Stowell.

The Bethel Library is very much the stronger for the loyal, generous gifts of our many patrons and friends. Heartfelt thanks!

From the District Exchange

The Exchange Thrift Shop will be closed for cleaning and renovations from Saturday, Sept. 17, for a week, and will reopen on Monday, Sept. 26. The project is being coordinated by Bob and Lida Isles of Andover, District Exchange volunteers.

On Tuesday, Sept. 13, the staff of the Key Bank in Bethel offered their time for a community service project at the Exchange cleaning out summer clothing, under the direction of Sylvia Dunham of Greenwood.

Anyone wishing to assist during the renovation week may contact the District Exchange message machine, 824-4090.

During the renovation week, the food pantry will function as usual. Food assistance is available by appointment by calling Erika Penczer at 824-7639.

WINNING FORMS—The Telstar High School soccer and field hockey teams both won games played at home Monday. At left, Matt Zinchuk (in white) heads the ball over a Wiscasset player. Above, the Rebels' Mallory Brown (in white) fights for the ball with a Hall-Dale player. The soccer team won 3-1, while the ladies prevailed 10-1. Brown tallied a hat trick in the victory. Telstar soccer overview

Coach Tim Remington's Telstar High School soccer team lost a number of starters, but he's still optimistic about the team's prospects for the season.

"We graduated 12 seniors so varsity experience is minimal," he said. "We have some new members and younger players that I hope will contribute and fill in the gaps. The potential is there for a very good team."

The lineup includes seniors Blake Conrad (defense); Nathan Walker (defense); Stephen Scotti (defense); Dan Kiesel (midfield); Rodrigo Silva (midfield); and Brandon Costello (forward).

Juniors include Ryan Kimball (goalkeeper); Matt Zinchuk (midfield/defense); Louis Thornton (forward); Max Meader (forward); Danny Ojeda (defense); Kevin Gallagher (defense); Gavin Parker (midfielder); Kevin Wight (midfielder); Charles Haines (defense); Charlie Rice (forward); Sophomores are Mike Fleet (midfielder); Chris Schwarz (midfielder); Terry Gordon (defense); Andy Whitney (midfielder).

High School Boys' Varsity Soccer

Telstar 3, Wiscasset 1; Sept. 12—Telstar's Rodrigo Silva scored two goals and Louis Thornton one in a win over Wiscasset. Max Meader had an assist. Goalie Steve Scotti had seven saves.

High School Varsity Field Hockey

Telstar 10, Hall-Dale 1; Sept. 12 — Telstar's Mallory Brown scored three goals, Danna Wilson two and Jillian Kimball, Lindsey Hart, Liz Rosenberg, Chea Davis and Tara Lunney one each in a win over Hall-Dale. Kayla Mills and Kimball each had an assist. Goalie Stephanie Tripp had two saves. The Rebels outshot Hall-Dale 32-3.

High School Golf

Telstar 4, Georges Valley 1; Sept. 8—Telstar's Brady Chapman, Sean Caddigan, Zach Meisner and Errol Andrews all won their matches in a win over Georges Valley at the Bethel Inri & Country Club.

Spartans Football

Sept. 11— The Spartans took the field for the first time ever at Rumford. Even though they came up short on the scoreboard they gave their strong following of fans much to cheer for and look forward to. In the 3rd & 4th grade game, Josef Holt ran a kick off back for a touchdown, while on defense Bronson Dean and Austin Ryerson both had strong performances recording many tackles. In the 5th and 6th grade game, defensive highlights were provided by John Scheiddeger, Devin Vail, Jeb Clark, and Drew Wilson. The game ended with the Spartans driving 70 yards in less than 3 minutes, falling just short at the Rumford 3-yard line. The drive involved hard inside running by Corey Howard, a 30-yard pass play from Avery Rossow to Tyler Brown, reverses to Nick Mills, sweeps by Drew Wilson, and solid blocking up front. 3rd and 4th grade kickoff time this Sunday is at 12:30 at Telstar followed by the 5th and 6th grade game at 2:00. The Spartans will host Mt. Blue Youth Football from Farmington. Refreshments will be sold at the concessions booth. — coach Jim Rose

ELAINE GAMMON RUSSON

Eileen (Gammon) Russon, 85, of Norway, died Friday, Sept. 9, 2005 at Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway with her loving family by her side.

She was born in Norway on April 27, 1920, the daughter of Urshal "Tim" Gammon and Elizabeth (Drew) Gammon.

Mrs. Russon worked at her family store in Norway and in her later years had worked at Norway Hospital and also had worked at a hospital in Waltham, Mass.

She was a member of the Norway Historical Society, the Oxford County Extension Program, and the American Legion Auxiliary.

She was interested in world affairs, and just enjoyed people and making new friends.

She is survived by two daughters, Carol and her husband Michael Haley of Auburn, and Betty and her husband Bill Jordan of Greenwood; a son, Douglas Mawhinney and his wife Donna of Norway; a sister, Mary Cadorette of North Carolina; two brothers, Alan Gammon and wife Phyllis of Marcellus, N.Y., and Richard Gammon and his wife Judy of Spokane, Wash.; 10 grandchildren; 14 great-grandchildren; and one great-great-grandchild. She was predeceased by a daughter, Sherrill DeLucia; and a brother, Urshal N. Gammon.

Family and friends are invited to attend a gathering from 1 to 2 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 17, followed by a memorial service at 2 p.m. at Oxford Hills Funeral Services, 1087 Main Street, Route 26, Oxford. Family and friends are invited to attend the committal service at Lakeview Cemetery, Watson Road, Norway, directly after the service. In lieu of flowers, donations in Eileen's memory may be sent to the Pine Tree Society, P.O. Box 518, 149 Front Street, Bath, ME 04530, or to the American Lung Association of Maine, 122 State Street, Augusta, ME 04330.

JEFFREY R. DILLINGHAM

Jeffery R. Dillingham, 44, of Oak Street, Lewiston, died unexpectedly on Saturday, Sept. 10, 2005 at Central Maine Medical Center, Lewiston.

He enjoyed NASCAR and attending the races at Oxford Plains Speedway, spending time with family and playing cards. He loved his NASCAR collectibles. He also played drums for local area bands. He spent a lot of time with friends at Azischohos Lake.

He worked as a construction worker for many years. He attended Buckfield High School and earned his GED while in the Navy.

He is survived by his parents, Robert and Elizabeth Walder of Sumner; Ronald Dillingham and Peggy Roberts of West Paris; Rita Y. Dillingham; his brothers, Kevin Dillingham and his wife Stacey of West Paris, Dennis Dillingham and his wife Krissy of South Paris, and Dean Dillingham and wife Kim of South Paris; one stepbrother, Scott Walder of Turner; his beloved grandmother, Mrs. Marion "Grammy Dilly" Dillingham of South Paris; and significant other, Ms. Donna-Marie Charpentier. He was predeceased by his maternal grandmother, Louise Arris; maternal grandfather, Donald Richardson Sr.; and paternal grandfather, Nelson Dillingham.

A memorial service will be held at the West Sumner Universalist Church, 1114 Main Street, Sumner, on Thursday, Sept. 15, at 2 p.m. Burial will follow in the Pleasant Pond Cemetery, Route 219, Sumner. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the American Heart Association, 6 East Merrill Road, Lewiston, ME 04240. Condolences may be expressed at www.funeralalternatives.net.

VIOLET H. O'SHEA

Violet H. O'Shea, 90, died Monday, Sept. 12, 2005 at the Sandy River Center for Health Care, Farmington, where she had resided the past several years. She was formerly of Roxbury Notch for many years, then she and her husband lived at Red Mountain Estates in Deming, N.M., from 1977 to 1995 when she moved back to Andover to live with her daughter, Maureen.

She was born in Chelsea, Mass., June 20, 1915, a daughter of Esau and Mirah (Hopkins) Parsons, and had attended schools in Chelsea. She was a former member of the Rumford Falls Aerie 1248, F.O.E. Auxiliary.

Violet had owned and operated the Notch Trading Post in Roxbury for many years with her husband until their retirement in 1977 when they moved to New Mexico.

She was married in York on July 19, 1935 to the late James P. "Red" O'Shea, who died in Deming, N.M. on Oct. 28, 1989.

Survivors include three daughters, Maureen Adams and husband Ronald of Andover; Dolly Gasior and husband Stanley of Middletown, Conn.; Betty Bowman of Milford, Mass.; a son, James P. O'Shea, Jr. and wife Nancy of Danvers, Mass.; many grandchildren and great-grandchildren; three great-great-granddaughters; a sister, Elsie Palladino of Chelsea, Mass. She was predeceased by a daughter, Patricia White; a granddaughter, Laura Bowman; a great-grandson, Mark Walsh; three brothers, George, Elmer and Harold Parsons; two sons-in-laws, Al Bowman and Daniel White, Sr.; a brother-in-law, Joseph Palladino.

Funeral services will be held on Friday, Sept. 16, at 11 a.m. at the Meader & Son Funeral Home, 3 Franklin Street, Rumford with the Rev. Clifford Olson officiating. Interment will be at Pineview Cemetery, Roxbury. Calling hours will be at the funeral home 6 to 8 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 15. Online condolences and memories may be shared at meaderfh@gwi.net.

In Memory of Deborah L. Cantelo

Passed in Bethel on Sept 15, 1995

Let this be a loving reminder that someone is missing today. Someone our hearts still hold onto as we travel along life's way. Someone who made life special for all those who remain here. Someone who won't be forgotten but cherished from year to year. And now as we pause to remember Let us fondly recall how dearly each of us loved her, and oh... how she loved us all!

Missed by her Sister
Nancy Spearin
And all Deb's family and friends.
